WESTINGHOUSE PASSES AWAY

Noted Inventor Succumbs to Heart Disease.

SIXTY-EIGHT YEARS OF AGE

Deceased Showed Genius at an Early Age and When Only Fifteen Produced a Rotary Engine—Airbrake Bearing His Name Considered the Most Valuable of His Many Inventions.

New York, March 13.—George Westinghouse, a foremost figure in the world of engineering and inventor of the airbrake that bears his name, died at his residence in this city.

Heart disease manifested itself about fifteen months ago and the end came a few hours after it became publicly known that Mr. Westinghouse was seriously ill. He was in his sixty-eighth year. The funeral will be at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church Saturday and the burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

Westinghouse became an inventor at the age of fifteen years, when he produced a rotary engine. Four years later he constructed a device for replacing derailed steam cars. Then, when twenty-one years old, he sought financial backing of the late Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt for his airbrake, perfected after three years of labor.

"Do you mean to tell me you can stop a train of cars by wind?" demanded the commodore.

"Well, yes; inasmuch as air is wind, I suppose you are right," spoke the youth.

"No Time to Waste on Fools." "I have no time to waste on fools," said the commodore, abruptly terminating the interview.

Westinghouse sought and found capital elsewhere, manufactured his invention and made high speed possible on all railroads, revolutionizing traffic systems and inaugurating a national era of railroad development.

Mr. Westinghouse did not confine his genius to railroads. For half a century he continued to make other contributions to electrical as well as engineering advancement. His inventions and improvements had to do with railway signaling; the development of the alternating current system for electric lighting and power; devices for safety and for economical conveying natural gas over long distances and using it for industrial and domestic fuel; air springs for motor vehicles of all kinds; and a geared turbine system for the propulsion of ships, developed in collaboration with the late Admiral George W. Melville, U. S. N., and John H. MacAlpine.

Recipient of Many Honors. In return for his many achievements the highest honors in the gift of the technical societies and institutions of Europe and America were bestowed upon him, European sovereigns conferring distinguished orders. Last December he received from the principal engineering society of Germany the celebrated Grasp of Gold medal.

Mr. Westinghouse founded many manufacturing companies in this country and abroad, including plants at East Pittsburgh, Wilmerding, Swissvale and Trafford City, Pa., and others in Hamilton, Can.; Manchester and London, Eng.; Havre, France; Hanover, Germany; St. Petersburg, Russia; Vienna, Austria; and Vado, Italy. In these plants some 50,000 persons are employed and the many companies have a capitalization aggregating $200,000,000.

Mr. Westinghouse's mental alertness and activity remained to the last unimpaired. The final few years of life were among the most productive. For several months he had, however, limited his activities, placing greater responsibilities on his associates.

George Westinghouse was born in Central Bridge, near Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 6, 1846, and as a lad attended the public schools in Schenectady. He entered Union college, but left in 1863 to join the Twenty-sixth United States cavalry and served in the Civil war.

VAGRANT ARMY MUST DISPERSE

Four California Counties Issue
an Ultimatum.

MEN ARE HUNGRY AND COLD

In Spite of Their Hardships the Tourists Are Defiant and Declare They Will Not Move Until Their Leaders Are Released From Custody and the Entire Force Given Transportation.

Sacramento, Cal., March 13.—"Disperse at once" was the ultimatum issued by four California counties to the 700 unemployed who left San Francisco last week on a transcontinental march to Washington, D. C.

Although suffering from the pangs of hunger and the effects of cold the "army" is defiant and declares it will not move until its leaders are released from jails and hospitals and until it is given transportation East.

"Food will be sent these men if we have to resort to arms," declared J. S. Wightman, a representative of "General" Kelley, who arrived here to organize relief measures.

"The treatment of these men has been one of the most brutal chapters in the history of labor," he continued. "I saw the sheriff of Sacramento county dump an automobile load of bread that had been supplied by the labor unions into the river. Our only hope is in keeping these men together, but starvation is weakening their spirit."

The action decided upon by the authorities, if the men remain firm in their refusal to disperse, is to cut out bunches of twenty, thirty or fifty men as cowpunchers cut out bunches of cattle, herd them to the railway tracks and bundle them into cars.

Firemen, policemen and armed deputy sheriffs will guard the bridges and prevent any attempt to escape.

Officials of Sacramento offered the unemployed transportation to any point within a fifty-mile radius of the county.

RITCHIE-WOLGAST CONTEST

Fast Ten-Round Boxing Bout Occurs at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, March 13.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion of the world, earned a shade over Ad Wolgast, former champion, in their ten-round bout here.

The champion outboxed the Michigan boy in five rounds and in the seventh had Wolgast backing away from his punches. Wolgast sank to one knee when Ritchie landed a shower of blows on his stomach and took the count of four. He rushed at the champion, but Ritchie danced away from him.

Wolgast was fouled in the seventh round, when the champion delivered a hard blow to the Michigan boy's groin, according to a statement of Dr. C. A. Morter, a member of the state boxing commission, after Wolgast went to his dressing room and underwent an examination.

TO SANCTION GLOBE RACE

Aero Club Will Grant Permission for Round the World Air Tour.

New York, March 13.—The Aero Club of America expects within ten days to grant a sanction for the round the world aeroplane race, which will start from the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds in San Francisco next year. Arnold Kruckman, manager of the race, and Lowell Harvey, his secretary, arrived here from the Pacific coast.

Mr. Kruckman informed the Aero club officials that about $340,000 had been pledged in prize money.

FIND EIGHT MORE BODIES

Club Register Confirms Belief Death List Will Be Thirty.

St. Louis, March 13.—Eight more bodies were recovered from the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club, destroyed by fire Monday morning, bringing the total number recovered to eighteen.

The bodies of twelve others are believed to be in the ruins, making the total death toll thirty. The finding of the club register and a comparison of the names with lists already prepared confirmed the belief that the death toll would not exceed thirty.

BLAMES AMERICAN WOMEN

Says They Are Responsible for Daring Innovations in Fashions.

London, March 13.—The Daily Mail's Paris correspondent gives an interview with a prominent French dressmaker, who arraigns American women as being chiefly responsible for daring innovations in fashions. "The American and not the French woman created the demand for risqué dresses," the dressmaker said. "For our American customers nothing seems too daring."

FEDERAL GRADING BILL IN

Measure Is Introduced by South Carolina Representative.

Washington, March 13.—Federal grading and supervisory inspection of grain subject to transactions in the cash or future markets is provided in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Lever of South Carolina, chairman of the committee on agriculture.

The inspection and grading provided by the measure is in line with the recommendations of the Northwestern producers of wheat who supported the resolution of Representative Manahan of Minnesota.

Mr. Lever drafted his bill after a conference with Mr. Manahan and the Northwestern men who appeared before the rules committee. Under the terms of the bill the cost of inspection will be borne by the grain. It has the approval of Mr. Manahan and his friends.

WILL SUBMIT THEIR REPORTS NEXT MAY

House Members Return From Michigan and Colorado.

Washington, March 13.—Refusal of the Michigan copper mine companies to recognize the miners' union was denounced as "un-American" by members of the house investigating committee on their return from the strike region.

Representative Taylor described James MacNaughton, vice president and general manager of the Calumet and Hecla Copper company, as "the boss of that great region."

Both the Michigan and Colorado investigating subcommittees expect to submit their reports to the house in May if not earlier.

"About 6,000 miners are still on strike in Michigan and living miserably out on the snow," said Representative Taylor. "Their condition is critical. The labor unions of the United States, including the Western Federation of Miners, are spending $50,000 a week for the strikers who are still living in the companies' houses, though not paying rent."

"The owners insist the miners must not only tear up their union cards and renounce their union affiliations, but enter into a solemn pledge that they will never again join the Western Federation of Miners."

"The mine operators substantially have agreed to all demands except the federation recognition. The men offer to go back under open shop, but the operators will not agree to this. There were 9,000 strikers who belonged to the union."

WOULD END LEGISLATURES

Proposed in New York to Elect One House of Reduced Size.

Albany, N. Y., March 13.—The substitution for the present state legislature of a single body, to be composed of one member from each congressional district, is sought in a constitutional amendment presented in the assembly.

BELIEVE BILL WILL PASS

Owen and Adamson Talk Free Toll Repeal With President.

Washington, March 13.—Simultaneous consideration in both houses of congress of bills to repeal the tolls exemption clauses in the Panama canal act probably will begin a week from today.

This was the prediction of Chairman Adamson of the house interstate commerce committee and Senator Owen, member of the interoceanic canal committee of the senate, during a conference with President Wilson at the White House.

Senator Owen and Mr. Adamson told the president that no one doubted the accuracy of the polls of the house and senate showing substantial majorities in favor of the repeal and that they felt more confident than ever of its adoption.

WILSON PLANNING NEW ALLIANCE?

Anglo-Saxon Pact Recalled After Canal Toll Message.

MANY STATESMEN FAVOR IT

Attention Called to Features of Tariff Bill That Protect Products of the South—Many Southerners Residing in Northern States Are Members of Congress—Era of Good Feeling.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, March 13.—(Special.)—President Wilson's plea for the repeal of the Panama canal tolls, with the intimation that such repeal would enable him to carry out a foreign policy he has in view, led to the question as to whether there may not be impending the Anglo-Saxon alliance of which so much has been said during the past few years.

There have been many intimations that the United States, with the Philippine Islands, the constant irritation on account of the Japanese question, the troubles with Mexico and the attitude of many other foreign governments toward us, has need of forming an alliance with a strong naval power like Great Britain. That has been the argument for a long time past, and many eminent statesmen have advocated a combination between the two great English speaking countries of the world for the mutual protection of their own interests.

It can be easily imagined, however, that such a treaty would have a hard time to get through the senate of the United States by a two-thirds vote.

Politics and Agriculture.

Discussion of agricultural conditions leads politics, especially when the question of prices comes up. Congressman Sloan of Nebraska in what he called a "political-agricultural" speech called attention to the protection on southern products in the last tariff bill, while northern products were put on the free list. Then he also went further and spoke of men who were natives of the southern states and who had gone to the northern states and were now in congress, but who still adhered to the doctrines of Calhoun and voted with the southern men on these tariff schedules.

Congressman Humphrey of Washington at this point tried to point out that one Progressive in the senate voted on the tariff bill, and, without violating the parliamentary ethics, he finally had the discussion shaped up so that it pointed to Senator Poindexter of Washington, although not mentioning his name. It is quite true that a number of southern born men are now in congress from the northern states, particularly in the senate, and the record shows that they all voted pretty solidly for a great reduction in the tariff and for free trade in many articles.

Era of Good Feeling.

A bill came up in the house recently relating to the marking of the graves of Confederate soldiers, and it was evident that an era of good feeling was dwelling in the house. When such southerners as Bartlett of Georgia and Slayden of Texas indulge in highly complimentary language about Jim Mann of Illinois and different men of the north vie with each other in their efforts to speak kindly of the Confederate dead, it was evident that all traces of the civil war are gone.

Saw Something Dark.

Congressman Donovan of Connecticut is constant in his attendance at the house, although the Record does not disclose that he is talking much. But once in awhile he has his innings. Recently there was a bill before the house for a maneuver ground in Alabama, and right behind it—and, in fact, coupled with it afterward—was a bill for a maneuver ground in Tennessee. The two states were in perfect accord, and the delegations were working hand in hand for these two bills. Then "Wild Jerry," as he has come to be known, broke in and wanted to know why there was need of so much land. "That is probably the Ethiopian in the woodpile!" declared Donovan, and then he went on to remark that lumber and building material were cheap and that it was evidently a purely business transaction. "That is another Ethiopian!" declared the Connecticut man.

"Jerry is seeing things dark these days," remarked one of his friends.

Booster Clubs.

Interrupting a discussion on the agricultural bill, Congressman Bowdler of Ohio said, "In many of our large cities we have booster clubs whose business it is to invite people to come from the country into the town, and then we have philosophers to stand around and invite them to come from the town to the country."

"Those people ought to be put in an insane asylum," declared Congressman Lever of South Carolina.

"The philosophers or the booster clubs?" queried Congressman Alexander of Missouri.

Attentive Audiences.

The senators who discussed woman suffrage recently had attentive audiences. Women who are supporting suffrage and those who are opposing it were in attendance day after day listening to the speeches, and they understood what was going on.

PRENDERGAST WILL SPEAK

To Address Indiana Republican Convention Next April.

Indianapolis, March 13.—William A. Prendergast, who placed Theodore Roosevelt in nomination for the presidency at the Progressive national convention, will make the principal address at the Republican state convention to be held here April 22 and 23.

ADOPTS RESOLUTION WITHOUT DEBATE

Senate Wants Text of Ambassador Page's Address.

Washington, March 13.—Walter Hines Page, American ambassador to Great Britain, was made the target of inquiry in a resolution introduced in the senate calling on the secretary of state to investigate alleged public aspersions by the ambassador relative to the Monroe doctrine and the Panama canal.

Senator Chamberlain, aroused over reports of a speech by Ambassador Page in London before the Associated Chambers of Commerce, introduced the resolution of inquiry and his request for immediate consideration resulted in its adoption without debate.

The resolution requests the secretary of state to procure a copy, for the use of the senate, of Ambassador Page's address and to call upon the ambassador for evidence upon which he based the alleged statement that "it added greatly to the pleasure of the people of the United States in the building of the Panama canal to know that the British would profit most by its use."

Particular request is made in the resolution for a verbatim report of that portion of the ambassador's address in which he is reported to have defined the Monroe doctrine as meaning merely that "the United States would prefer that European governments would gain no more land in the New World."

CONVICTS FOR ROAD WORK

Illinois Will Extend System of Honor Camps.

Joliet, Ill., March 13.—Two hundred and fifty convicts from the state penitentiary here will be set to work on the state roads as soon as the weather will permit, it was announced. The men will be divided into five "honor camps," each of which will be in charge of a foreman and an assistant—both unarmed.

The five squads will be assigned to any township that is prepared to build five miles or more of macadamized highways.

CALLED SANE; DRINKS ACID

Duluth Man Ends Life After Physicians Pronounce Mind Sound.

Duluth, March 13.—Hans Larson, forty years old and for twenty-six years a resident of Duluth, who tried to cut his throat March 7 and who was subsequently pronounced sane by an examining board of three physicians, evaded his nurses at St. Luke's hospital and took carbolic acid, dying twenty minutes later. He had just recovered from the effects of his first attempt enough to walk and when left alone made his way to a nearby room and found a bottle of acid.

ASSERT FIERRO KILLED BENTON

BRUTAL MURDER OF WOMAN

Cleveland Police Say Youth Has Confessed.

Cleveland, March 13.—The police preferred a charge of first degree murder against Frank Sticka, twenty-two years old, arrested in connection with the killing of Mrs. Anna Podogil, aged forty years. The action was taken, they said, after they had received a complete confession from Sticka.

Sticka's father informed the police that his son was insane. The police have ascertained that the boy's dead mother was formerly an inmate of an asylum.

The killing of Mrs. Podogil, who was housekeeper for the elder Sticka, was among the most brutal in local police annals. She was tied to a bed post, Wednesday evening and slowly hacked to death.

A policeman, passing the house, heard her screams and rescued her, but she died shortly after being removed to a hospital. Thirty-five wounds were found on the body.

HURRICANE WRECKS PORT

Boats Are Torn From Moorings and Sunk Along Harbor.

Melilla, Morocco, March 13.—A violent hurricane caused enormous damage to the port of Melilla and shipping. The Italian steamer Leonardo was torn away from her moorings and dashed against the mole. She lies in such a critical position that it is feared she will be a loss.

A tug, caught by a terrific wave, also was smashed to pieces, while seventeen fishing boats, launches and other craft were sunk. There was no loss of life.

OIL COMPANY FINED $14,000

Waters-Pierce Concern Found Guilty of Violating Elkins Law.

Shreveport, March 13.—The Waters-Pierce Oil company was fined a total of $14,000 in the federal court here after the company had been found guilty of fourteen counts charging violation of the Elkins law. The company was charged with making rate concessions on oil shipments in 1904, 1905 and 1906 from Bixby, Ill., to points south of Alexandria, in Louisiana.

Denied by Admiral Bowles.

Boston, March 13.—Rear Admiral Bowles, president of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, denied that he had employed Clarence W. De Knight to work for toll exemptions for American coastwise ships in the Panama canal act, as testified by De Knight before the senate lobby committee at Washington.

Crime and Sin.

"Crime" is a word that is misused as a synonym for "sin." A sin is the violation of a religious law. A crime is merely a violation of the law of one particular country or state. What is a crime in one country (polygamy, for instance) may not be a crime in another. Yet a sin is a sin to all who profess the religion that forbids it.

Party of Americans Arrives at El Paso From Chihuahua.

REBEL NOTED FOR CRUELTY

Refugees Also Bring Unconfirmed Reports That Major Fierro Has Been Arrested Charged With the Murder of Two Mexican Railway Men. Colonel Avila Said to Have Ordered Execution of Gustav Bauch.

El Paso, Tex., March 13.—Information that evidence thus far gathered by the Carranza commission indicated Major Rodolfo Fierro as the slayer of W. S. Benton, a British subject, assumed importance with the arrival of American passengers from Chihuahua with reports, not confirmed, that Fierro had been arrested, charged with the murder of two Mexican railroad men.

That the railroad men were murdered is known and it is said that the slaying was done in cold blood. Whether Fierro really has been arrested in connection with the case is only a report, but the information is regarded as probably correct by those who have been conversant with the fact that the Carranza commission started work with information that Benton was killed by Fierro.

It is said also that the commission has gathered convincing evidence that Colonel Fidel Avila, in command of the Garrison at Juarez, ordered the execution of Gustav Bauch, a German-American who was tried as a spy, but in whose case no verdict was rendered. Rebel officers at Juarez and at Chihuahua repeatedly have denied that he was killed.

Fierro Known to Be Cruel.

In the case of Fierro, whose cruelty is a matter of notoriety, those familiar with the situation have looked for some charge unconnected with the Benton case to be brought against him as a cloak on which he could be held. While investigators have been convinced for the last two weeks that it was he, and not General Villa, who killed Benton, they did not expect that he would live to face that particular charge. He was in Villa's office when Benton was killed and is said to be a distant relative of the rebel chief.

The Mexican railroad men are said to have been killed in a resort at Chihuahua, where Fierro appeared in an intoxicated condition. They were members of a union and as agents of the organization made the complaint to General Villa.

Bauch, it is said, was not executed until two days after Villa left Juarez. Whether Avila had orders for the execution is not known, but it is known that evidence thus far gathered indicates that he ordered the execution of the German-American.

HUERTA ORDERS AN ATTACK

Mexican Federals Are Now Assuming the Offensive.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 13.—General Huerta's announcement at Mexico City that the federal army had been ordered to assume the offensive against the rebels has been put in effect at Torreon, according to reports which came from that city.

Actuated by the belief that General Villa's rebel forces, scattered at points between here and Torreon, have delayed indefinitely their threatened advance, the federal soldiers, equipped with new field pieces and an abundance of ammunition, are reported to have moved toward the rebel outposts in great numbers.

VILLA ORDERED CREMATION

General Feared Americans Would Seize Benton's Body.

Mexico City, March 13.—The apparent reluctance of the rebel General Villa to deliver up the body of William S. Benton, who was killed recently at Juarez, has been explained, if messages received here are true. Mexican residents in the north have advised relatives here that when it was believed that Americans would cross the border and get the body it was burned by order of General Villa.

The Rebekah Social club met with Sister Carrie Wright on Tuesday afternoon, March 10. The meeting came as a surprise to Mrs. Wright as she is expecting to soon leave for her home in Iowa. The members exemplified the teachings of the order and the fraternal motto, "Friendship, Love and Truth," by presenting her little daughter, Ione Roberta, with a locket and chain as an appreciation of Mrs. Wright's efforts while in the Noble Grand chair and as captain of the Degree staff. The occasion proved to be of more than ordinary interest, it being the day little Ione was two months old and the day before her mother's birthday anniversary.

DISCIPLINE AT SEA.

Penalties and Privileges Aboard Ship In Former Days.

Some remarkable advice to seafarers is given in an old Portuguese book published for the guidance of mariners. Among other things it deals with the rights of captains to assault sailors and the methods in which the attacks are to be legally met.

The sailor was advised to bear calmly any verbal abuse that an irate skipper may hurl at him, but if words passed to blows he was to run away into the bows and firmly take his stand beside the anchor chain.

Should an infuriated master armed with a belaying pin or other lethal weapon chase him to his stronghold the mariner was liable to be branded in the forehead, to lose his right hand and to forfeit all of his property if he made a wrong entry in the ship's book or connived at such an entry.

Then at last he was to defend himself, and let us hope he would do it well. Other little matters of discipline are set out, and they show a noble effort to make the punishment fit the crime.

The ship's clerk, a privileged person who acted as bookkeeper, purser and cargo master, was liable to be branded in the forehead, to lose his right hand and to forfeit all of his property if he made a wrong entry in the ship's book or connived at such an entry.

A seaman who fell asleep on his watch was only put on a diet of bread and water unless the offense was committed in hostile waters. In that case he must be stripped naked, flogged by his messmates and ducked thrice in the sea.

If he were an officer, however, he would only lose all food except his bread and have a pail of water hung over from the head downward.—London Tit-Bits.

The modern soldier is equipped with a remarkable combination of tools, all in one. So varied is its application that it has been called the "universal tool." It is so insulated as to protect the user in cutting charged wires. It can be used as a hatchet, an adz or a spade, pliers, pipe wrench, wire cutters and wire twisters, a hammer, a file, a foot rule, a screwdriver and a can opener, and it can be converted into a shield to give partial protection to a rifleman.—Exchange.

TOWN OFFICIALS ARE CAUTIONED

Every Year Valuable Records of Communities all Over the Country are Consumed by Fire

IS EVERY PRECAUTION TAKEN

Special Care Should be Taken as to Storage Vaults and Safes Where Records are Kept

State Fire Marshal C. E. Keller, is sending notices to all county and town officials calling their attention to the dire need of fire resistive equipment, and the need of special care as to their storage vaults and safes for the public records.

Our readers may think that it is incredible that communities in America show a lack of care in regard to the safety of their records. This instance, unusual as it may seem, is true.

Reports gathered in the office of the state fire marshal reveals the fact that the losses of county, town and village records are of frequent occurrence. Lack of care and proper fire-proof equipment made easy the destruction when the demon fire attacked them.

It is of the highest importance that wills, deeds, vital statistics and similar invaluable documents and records should be placed where, in event of fire, however fierce they will be safe.

No town or village however small can afford to lose its records. Think of the inconvenience and hardship it brings upon the business man, the working man, and the widow and orphan.

In an interview with State Fire Marshal Keller he said: "The reports which come to this office from all over the country show losses of valuable records in the United States that are sad and deplorable. Valuable records and manuscripts that can never be replaced have gone up in smoke.

"Older communities of the eastern and middle states are more culpable in this respect than those in the western states.

"Waterford has not been profited by her severe lesson. Let us not have this kind of a loss in Minnesota.

"After a careful inspection of public buildings by our deputies, we have found that towns in our own state should be on their guard and provide absolute safety for their records.

"If a fire was to start in some of these buildings valuable records would be quickly destroyed and the loss would be felt for a long time.

"Every court house, and building used to store public records should be equipped with fire proof vaults with metal fittings and containers throughout. Books and records should be properly bound. The use of wood or any combustible material in any room where public records are kept should be strictly prohibited."

"It should be the duty of the officials who are responsible to the county or town for the safe keeping of public records to agitate the question of safety without ceasing until fire-proof equipment has been provided.

"Then rules should be laid down as to the storage each night of the records and every care possible be made to see that they are safe."

Minnesota Road Patrol System
Minnesota's designation of 1,000 miles of arterial roads as the state road system has already done much to advance the land values and place the North Star state among the first rank as regards road improvement. In 1914 Minnesota will spend $2,500,000 for roads and bridges, and will inaugurate a system of road patrols for the maintenance of the state roads. Nearly 1500 patrolmen will be assigned to five and eight-mile sections of the state highways, and will be held responsible at all times for the condition of the roads. The plan was originated and adopted at the request of State Highway Engineer G. W. Cooley. Twenty per cent of the one mill state road tax and a similar amount of the county appropriations for road work must be used for maintenance under the law passed a year ago. This makes available $500,000 for the new patrol system.—Scientific American.

SURGEONS' AMERICAN MECCA.

Site Being Sought For Erection of a Great Building.

The American College of Surgeons, an honorary organization, is contemplating the erection of a centrally located home to be the mecca for the surgeons of the continent. The cities looked on with favor are Minneapolis, Cleveland, Boston, Washington and New York. Chicago is not considered for the reason that the American Medical association has its headquarters there.

The proposed new home for the college is described by Dr. Franklin H. Martin, general secretary of the college.

"The home of the college," he says, "should provide meeting places for its convocations, spaces in which can be developed a great museum of surgery, including pathological specimens, apparatus and facilities for demonstrations and illustrations of the progress of surgery. It should contain a great working library, lecture rooms, in which important lectures can be delivered with every facility of illustration."

FOILED THE MAJOR

He Had to Flee at the Last Battle of the Revolution.

A FIGHT WON WITH A BROOM.

The Engagement Was Short, Sharp and Decisive, and In It the Patriot Spitfire, Mistress Day, Earned the Right to Her Title and to Fame.

The last battle of the Revolution was not at Yorktown, nor was it any of the many small skirmishes that occurred after the surrender of Cornwallis and before the formal declaration of peace in 1783. The last battle was of the nature of a duel, and it happened on the day the British evacuated New York.

The great day that was to see the last of King George III's regiments leave these shores finally arrived. The British army was to board the ships that lay in the harbor. Washington and his troops were waiting at Kingsbridge and McGowan's pass to take possession of the city immediately on their departure.

Major William Cunningham, the British provost marshal and commander of the prison on the common, gave one last look about his office, tossed the key on the table and went out into the sunlight, slamming the door behind him with much unnecessary violence. His infamous reign was over. There were few forms of cruelty that he had hesitated to practice on the luckless Continental prisoners in his charge. Among the mildest were the contamination of their drinking water by throwing rubbish into the well and the appropriation and sale of their rations for his own profit.

The friends and relatives of his victims were flocking back to the city triumphant, and it behooved Major Cunningham not to linger. So he left the prison, turned into the common, and crossed it to gain Broadway. He strode along muttering curses under his breath. At the corner of Broadway and Murray street something caught his eye. He stopped, hesitated, then turned aside and hastened down
Murray street.

"What audacity! What monstrous audacity!" he thought. But it was like that rebel spitfire, Mistress Day. He would teach her one final lesson.

He reached the Day house, which was a tavern near Greenway street, opened the gate and shook his fist at the Stars and Stripes that fluttered from a tall flagpole, as if waving a triumphant welcome to the Continental troops.

Wrathfully he seized the halyards and began to pull the flag down the pole. There was something about the action that soothed his ruffled feelings.
He would at least take back to England with him one captured rebel banner.
But he had reckoned without Mistress Day!

From her kitchen that patriotic woman heard the creaking of the pulley on her flagstaff. She tiptoed to her front windows and peeped out. She knew the major only too well, and she determined to prevent this final outrage. She flew back to the kitchen and seized her broom.

In the meantime, with his back to the house, the major was hauling away vigorously. A few more jerks and the flag would be within his grasp. Bang!
His hat suddenly flew off and went scuttling down the yard. In his astonishment he continued to pull mechanically on the halyards. Bang, whack! The major saw many times more than thirteen stars, and the powder flew from his wig in all directions.
He dropped the rope and turned about,
purple with indignation.

"Woman, do you realize what you are doing?" he roared. The broomstick was in the air again, and the major dodged. Whack! It struck him squarely across the bridge of his nose, and the field at once became ensanguined.

The bleeding officer now began to take hasty counsel with himself. He was late for the embarkation, the American troops would soon be upon the ground, his hat had received an irreparable dent, his wig was in the wildest disorder, his regimentals were stained with marks of the bloody affray, his head was yet spinning from contact with Mistress Day's weapon, and there were unmistakable signs that Mistress Day's arm was by no means weary! Some warning bugle notes from the Battery decided the matter. He turned about and strode off, picking up his damaged headgear on the way. Mistress Day, smiling contentedly, returned to her kitchen to continue the baking and brewing for the evening festival.

It took the major some time to remove the evidences of conflict before he appeared at the Battery. He must have been hard put to it to explain his lateness and his disheveled state to his superior officer. His career after his return to England continued to be disreputable. He was executed for forgery eight years after he left New York. As for Mistress Day, the woman who flew the first American flag in the evacuated city and who fought and won the last conflict of the Revolution, she deserves a wider fame than she has enjoyed.—Youth's Companion.

Visible Superiority

Model 7-T-S
Model 7-C. The Leader of the Line

IN the coming year more than ever before motorcycle manufacturers and dealers will make claims of some hidden feature of superiority.

The wise buyer must be shown. The quality of the Excelsior is not hidden or elusive, it is dominant and readily proven both by sight and record of accomplishment. The is now entering its 7th year and is the one machine that has been built year after year with only such changes in design and construction as have been the logical result of development in motorcycle engineering and in machines and facilities for their production.

Excelsior Motors have been built for six years without material changes and have Always Made Good

In the 1914 line the discerning buyer will find every feature for safety, comfort and convenience that has been developed to the Excelsior standard of efficiency.

AN ANIMAL IN PAIN.

It Suffers Less Than Man on Account of Its Low Intelligence.

It is a platitude that "pain is as one feels it." But that statement falls a considerable way short of the truth. The measure of pain undoubtedly depends as much upon realization, comparison and constructive memory as upon sensation. In other words, the individual with the most highly developed imagination enjoys and suffers most intensely, though not perhaps most violently. Pain and death are terrible in proportion as one is capable of relating them to experience. To children they are not terrible in this sense, because children have small experience and even smaller powers of imagining relations.

In the case of animals the power of constructing a memory picture and relating the same to present conditions is probably exceedingly low, if not entirely absent. Pain to an animal represents an unpleasant experience begun and ended sharply. It is unrelated. It has no social or moral significance. It is not terrible in the wide sense. An animal lives from moment to moment. At any given moment its happiness is a question in the main of physical comfort. The caged skylark (though it must not be supposed that this is any defense of an objectionable practice) experiences none of the misery of the caged man. It does not know that its liberty is hopelessly lost. It cannot relate its present position to past experience in the way in which a prisoner can and must do. The cage is merely an accidental obstruction which may at any moment disappear. Should the bird stop struggling it does so because struggling is unpleasant, not because it is hopeless.—London Chronicle.

FURTHER REPORTS ON TOWN ELECTIONS

Tuesday, March 10, was the date of the Annual Township and Village Elections

WET AND DRY ISSUE UP IN SOME

Many of the Villages Vote on That Question—Others Have Peaceful Time of it

On Tuesday, March 10, the annual village and township elections were held in Crow Wing county and these, as well as the reports from neighboring towns, are reported:

PEQUOT.

Pequot remained dry by 31 majority, there being 58 votes cast against license and 27 for license. There has not been a saloon in Pequot for the last six years. The officers elected are:

President—F. A. Knights.
Trustees—L. Mattson, D. D. Schraeder and Martin Norris.
Recorder—J. P. Bakken.
Treasurer—F. W. Ford.
Justices of the Peace—A. R. Holman and C. P. Eastman.
Constables—Christ Knudson and Tom Chopin.

WALKER.

Mayor—Louis Krueger.
Councilmen—Archie La Vigne, N. W. Olson, Robt. Delury.
Recorder—Harry Bright.
Treasurer—Frank B. Davis.
Assessor—Owen Morical.
Justice—Farley Dare.
Constable—Wm. Dearing.

RIVERTON.

The election resulted in the votes for several of the candidates. The figures are:

President—John C. Mick 17, Joe Hallister 15.
Trustees—Ray Williams 19, Louis Stols 19, Jack Smith 30.
Treasurer—H. S. Swanson 32.
Clerk—A. W. Leonard and Guy Bye both 16.

Justice of the Peace—T. E. Austin 32, A. J. Williams 16 and N. H. Nelson also 16.

Constables—W. M. Nelson, A. Dugan, J. C. Pielt and Anton Moe each 16.

AITKIN.

Aitkin went dry by a majority of 44 votes. The license proposal was the main issue of the election. The old officers were reelected by a narrow margin.

MOTLEY.

President—G. W. Mosher.
Councilman—George Palmer.
Clerk—Arthur J. Johnson.
Treasurer—C. H. Bierwagen.
Justices—Thomas Goggin, Chas. T. Rie.
Constable—Ralph Lyon.
Recorder—R. T. Benedict.
Dry 45, wet 47.

WEIGHT OF A BODY.

How It Decreases as It Goes Above or Below the Earth's Surface.

Everybody weighs more at the surface of the earth than it can at any other point. Its weight diminishes as it is removed above the surface or below it. As it rises from the surface its weight decreases in inverse ratio to the squares of the distances from the center of the earth. As it descends below the surface its weight decreases directly as the distance from the center of the earth.

Thus a body weighing 100 pounds at the surface of the earth, which is approximately 4,000 miles from the center, would weigh only twenty-five pounds at a point 4,000 miles high. At twice the distance it has one-quarter the weight.

If we drop the same body half the distance to the center of the earth or to a point approximately 2,000 miles below the surface it will weigh fifty pounds.

The reason for this is that at 2,000 miles from the center the body is on the surface of a sphere of 2,000 miles' radius.

What causes weight is the mass of matter combined with distance from the center. A globe of 2,000 miles' radius contains one-eighth as much matter as a globe of 4,000 miles' radius, the size of the earth; therefore only one-eighth as much matter attracts the body, which, if mass were the only factor, would at 2,000 miles from the center weigh one-eighth as much as at the surface of the earth. But it is also only half as far from the center as it was at the surface and, if distance were the only factor, would weigh four times as much as on the surface. Four times one-eighth is one-half; therefore it weighs half what it would at the surface.

Now, suppose we drop this body to the very center of the earth and see what it would weigh. All the matter of the earth is now outside it and can exercise no attraction whatever upon it; therefore it weighs nothing at all.—New York World.

Why the Major Wept.

The picture of the army as a career for all reminds one of the short way to enter and rise of the highly born of the eighteenth century. Commissions then were not even paid for by the aristocracy, and companies were often commanded by children. Thus wrote Lady Dorothy Neville on one particular instance of the custom: "Lord Armadale, one of the Scottish judges, had a son, who, at the age of seven or twelve, rose to the rank of major. One morning his mother hearing a noise in the nursery ran to know the cause of it. 'It is only the major greeting (crying) for his porridge,' explained the nurse."

Spiders' Twine.

There are spiders in Java which make webs so strong that it requires a knife to sever them.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

At the Columbia

A packed house at the Columbia last night and the class of entertainment given there deserve the wonderful support already given. The management tells us they have booked for today and tomorrow a wonderful two-reel comedy. The success of the two-reeler of last Friday and Saturday was remarkable and this they say must be repeated.

Tonight is ladies night at the Columbia and tomorrow afternoon Bargain Matinee.

Shriners at the Grand

This popular theatre was packed last night for both houses. The pictures were up to the usual standard which is the best. The special reel, "The Shriners at Fargo," clearly shows several of our prominent business men, John Carlson, T. Templeton, Geo. Grewcock, N. H. Ingersoll, Dan Whitney and Mr. Lee. They are holding this reel over again tonight in addition to their regular show. This will give the people of Brainerd the opportunity of seeing their friends in moving pictures.

Mrs. Clyde Parker made a great hit with her song "The New Baby," and very readily responded to the encores which were heartily called for. Mrs. Parker may be heard again at the Grand in the near future. Next Thursday night, March 19, the theatre will be turned over to the Bachelor Maids and we believe Mrs. Parker has some specialty for this occasion.

"Sanford Dodge and Co."

Of Sanford Dodge and company, who will soon appear at the Brainerd opera house, the Warroad Pioneer says: "Sanford Dodge and company presented, at the Lyceum, three distinct plays, 'Symposium of Othello,' 'The Governor's Lady' and 'The Gunfighter.' This performance was of the highest order and demonstrated high class acting. The entertainment was all in all the best that ever graced a Warroad stage. The management of the Lyceum is to be complimented on securing such a high class organization as Mr. Dodge and his company. The scale of prices will be 25c, 50c and 75c.

The Broadway Players

"The Girl From Paris" with Margie Garrett in the title role and supported by Bert Bence, Fannie Hammond and the entire company of Broadway Players will make merry and furnish two hours of laughter at the opera house. "The Girl From Paris" is a three act novelty comedy, written with but one object in view, to make people laugh. It is a great comedy for the tired business man, and it certainly cheers the ladies. Many specialties are interpolated throughout the piece, and in the big second act the different surprises come so fast one wonders what is coming next. "The Girl From Paris" is strictly up to date and wears some stunning gowns. The comedy has never been played in Brainerd.

Biggest Figures.

Returning home from Sunday school one Sunday, a little five-year-old girl said: "Mamma, every Sunday the man reads how much money each class gives, and then he tells how much Total gives, and Total gives more than any one. He must be a rich man. Who is Total, mamma?"—Pittsburgh Press.

Earthworms.

When a dry season or winter approaches the earthworms burrow deeper into the ground. At a depth varying from six inches to two feet each worm coils up into a little ball. By aid of secreted slime it makes a case of dirt round itself and in this state it remains dormant until abundant rains or the spring thaws call it back to a more active life.

Literary and Musical Pillage.

Bernard Shaw's defense of literary "pillage" was anticipated by his fellow countryman, Balfe, the composer of "The Bohemian Girl," who used to borrow generously from other people's scores. On one occasion, the London Express recalls, he was rehearsing a new opera at Drury Lane and the first fiddle, an Italian, was horrified to come upon page after page of familiar music. "Mr. Balfe, Mr. Balfe," he said in horror, "that is Mozart." "And a capital man, too," was the Irishman's reply. "Get on with the rehearsal."—Indianapolis News.

A Japanese and His Wife.

A lady residing in Pasadena was recently asked by her Japanese gardener for the three days' wages due him, as he was about to leave for Japan with his wife and baby. His written explanation was: "Will you please give me, if you can, as my wife is want the wages, and buy some things you know—I do not like to say such small thing, but every woman's mind are very small. My wife is more small."—Exchange.

Success Without Bitterness.

Success in industry, in art or in love is saved from bitterness and disappointment because we regard our achievements far more symbolically than we know and rest far more than we are aware upon the backing of God.—Dr. Richard C. Cabot.

TRANSFORMATION OF THE ORIENT

Psychological Opportunity of Missionaries Is at Hand.

AMERICAN IDEAS GAIN HOLD

Asiatics Breaking Away From Shackles of Ignorance and Superstition. Much More Progress in the Far East Than Generally Supposed, Says Y. M. C. A. Student Secretary.

"The people of the orient are hungry for new truth, especially western or American truth." This is the conclusion of Dr. W. D. Weatherford, the well known southern Y. M. C. A. student secretary, who recently returned from a trip around the world studying the influence of Christian missions.

Dr. Weatherford, in a recent address at Hampton Institute, described some of the Chinese and Japanese economic conditions, which show, he said, the need of the influence of Christian missionaries.

That English and American ideas are eagerly sought by the orientals is shown by some of the street signs printed in English. A few follow: "English Taught Up to the Letter G," "Hairdressing Cafe—Men Properly Barbed," "Behind these absurd signs there is, in the opinion of Dr. Weatherford, the tragedy of a people eager to work their way out of the bondage of ignorance and superstition. In the Imperial university of Tokyo there are over 570,000 volumes. Of this number some 100,000 are printed in English. On the shelves of the leading Japanese bookshops are the latest German and English books on civics, economics, sociology and philosophy. The new truth is eagerly learned and quickly applied.

Progress in the Far East.

Dr. Weatherford said frankly that the far east was not half as slow as he thought he would find it. He described very vividly his railroad journey through Manchuria on a first class Japanese train, which was made up of Pullman compartment cars, a good dining car and a great American locomotive. Traveling on schedule time at the rate of forty miles an hour was made possible in the far east through the introduction of American high grade products.

He described, too, one of the great cotton mills in Kobe, Japan, in which 7,000 operatives work. The company operating this mill, and eight other similar mills, is capitalized at some $9,000,000 in gold. It furnishes free meals for its working people, schools for the children of the mill operatives and baths for all of its men and women.

This social service idea was brought to Kobe by the general manager of the cotton mill who had seen Y. M. C. A. secretaries at work ministering to the soldiers in the Manchurian trenches.

Cheap Labor in Japan.

Dr. Weatherford says that great masses throughout the far east are living far below the line of efficiency. There are millions of people in China who have not enough to eat because of the prevailing economic conditions.

At Nagasaki Dr. Weatherford saw Japanese women handling baskets of coal for sixteen or seventeen hours, with very few intermissions, for some 15 cents a day. In the match factories of Japan a woman who is able to paste 20,000 labels a day on boxes receives 10 cents for twelve hours of labor.

The Japanese year book shows that there are twenty-six skilled and semi-skilled professions paying individuals from 51 cents a day down to 4½ cents a day. In China men who act as common carriers receive 37½ cents a day, and out of this amount pay almost one-half for the privilege of engaging in this laborious occupation.

WOULD PENSION THE AGED.

Connecticut Representative Urges the United States to Take the Lead.

Representative Thomas L. Reilly of Connecticut in offering to congress a bill to create a commission to consider the question of pensions for aged government employees went on record as favoring a general old age pension plan.

The resolution authorizes a commission of five members, to be named by the president, and the report would be submitted within a year. An appropriation of $25,000 to defray expenses of the commission would be granted.

"The more I have studied the question," said Mr. Reilly, "the more I am convinced that all worthy citizens should, after they have reached a certain age, say sixty-five or seventy, be pensioned at a moderate rate—enough to take care of them and prevent their going to the poorhouse or depending on charity.

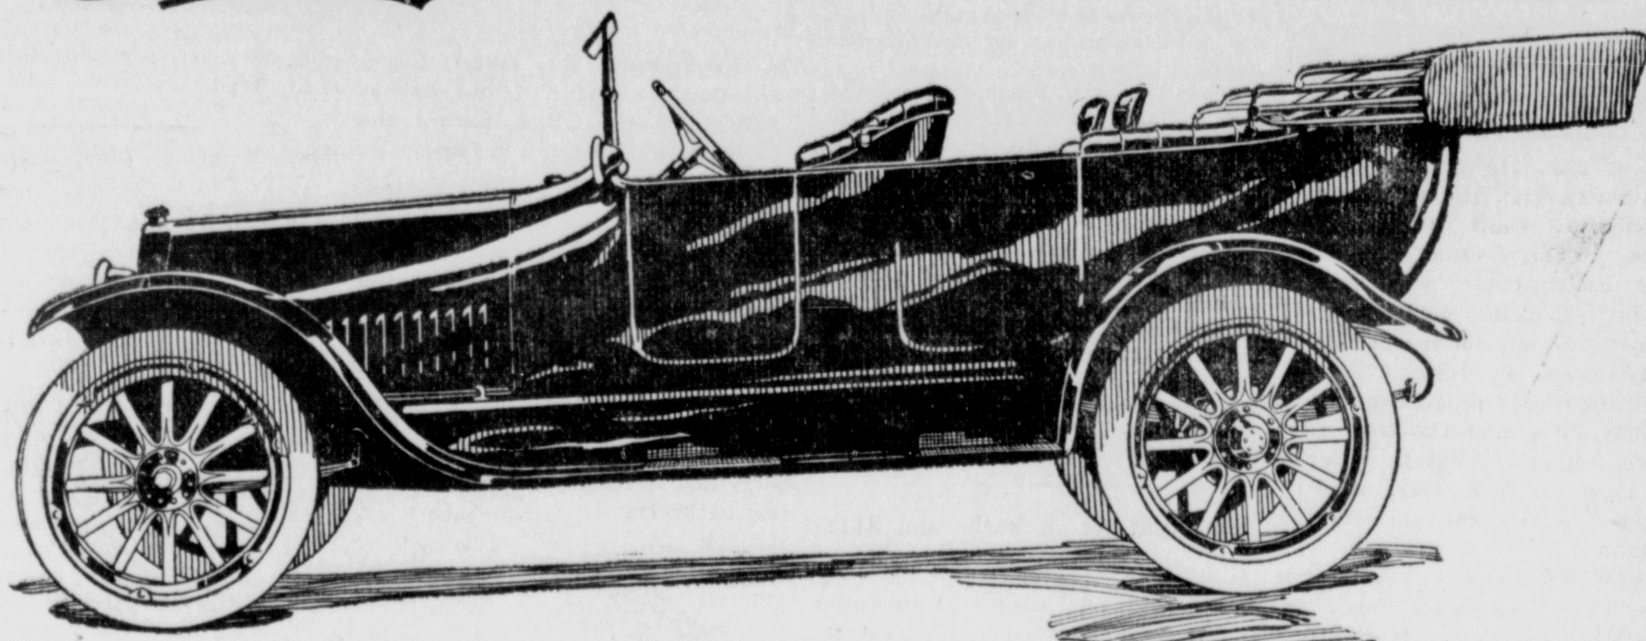

"In matters of this kind the United States should lead. If a general old age pension system is adopted—and I am sure one will be eventually—nothing would be lost, as the aged, who are unable to care for themselves, have to be taken care of one way or another by public or private charitable institutions.

"It would solve the problem of pauperism to a great extent. It might be a good idea to permit philanthropists to contribute toward the maintenance of a fund for this purpose."

BUILDING A LIFE.

A few colored threads are of no special worth, but when a skillful hand has woven them into tapestry they become priceless and enduring. A few brushes and oils and dyes are valueless by themselves, but when the artist uses them they produce the masterpieces of fame. So the materials may seem poor and valueless, but out of them immortal joy may be found.

If this car is honest, there isn't an automobile in existence that compares with it in value.

That it is as honest inside as it is beautiful outside, the name Studebaker guarantees.

The fact that it is manufactured to an extent exceeded by no other car of even higher price clinches the question of internal value.

And despite its beauty, despite its internal excellence, despite its seven-passenger capacity, despite its electric starting and lighting system, it is the lowest priced "Six" on the market.

In the face of such obvious and overwhelming evidence of value—how can you consistently pay a penny more for and other car, than the price of this Studebaker SIX!

SCOTLAND YARD WARNS TOURISTS

Americans Especial Prey of London "Con" Men.

BEGIN OPERATIONS IN APRIL

Methods by Which Sharpers Rob the Unwary Explained in Circular Sent to State Department Through Consul General—Tricks With Variants Not Unlike Those Employed on This Side.

The United States consul general at London has reported to the state department in Washington that he has received a communication from the criminal investigation department of New Scotland Yard saying that in view of the large number of visitors from America who have been victimized by the "confidence trick" in London, a police warning has been prepared giving the details of the trick as commonly practiced. The warning is as follows:

"Travelers intending to visit London are warned against being induced to part with money by what is known as the 'confidence trick.' The criminals who get their living by this kind of fraud select their victims from among American, Canadian and Australian visitors because they know that if they are arrested the victim has booked his passage and will not stay in London long enough to prosecute them and that without a prosecutor the police must liberate them.

Trick Has Several Variants.

"There are several variants of the fraud; the commonest is for a man whom we will call A. to approach the victim and, pretending to take him for a Londoner, to ask him for information on some point of historical interest. On the victim declaring himself to be a stranger in London and mentioning his native town, A. claims acquaintance as a fellow townsman and invites the victim to lunch with him.

"As they are going along the street they overtake a second man, B., who drops a satchel or an envelope just in front of them. The victim picks it up and restores it to the owner, who professes extravagant gratitude, saying that the envelope contains the proof of the inheritance of a large fortune from the will of an uncle. Sometimes he shows them a newspaper cutting purporting to give the result of a lawsuit which, he says, has been decided in his favor. B. then invites the two to lunch with him, and in the course of the meal tells them his uncle made a very eccentric will and that he is at his wit's end to know how to comply with one of the conditions, which is that he is to distribute $5,000 among the poor of London and a like sum among the poor of the victim's native state.

ing that the envelope contains the proof of the inheritance of a large fortune from the will of an uncle. Sometimes he shows them a newspaper cutting purporting to give the result of a lawsuit which, he says, has been decided in his favor. B. then invites the two to lunch with him, and in the course of the meal tells them his uncle made a very eccentric will and that he is at his wit's end to know how to comply with one of the conditions, which is that he is to distribute $5,000 among the poor of London and a like sum among the poor of the victim's native state.

"He is actually looking for two conscientious and trustworthy almoners to do this for him, and he is ready to pay each of them $500 for their trouble. After some conversation A. volunteers to undertake the distribution in London. B. appears to be suspicious and objects that their acquaintance is too slight to warrant him in reposing such confidence in him. A. then produces from his pocket a bundle of what appear to be banknotes and, to show his confidence in B., begs him to take them out of the room. After a good deal of pressing, B. complies, and on his return an agreement is drawn up and B. hands over to A. what appears to be $5,000 in notes.

Victim Waits in Vain.

"It is then the victim's turn. Alured by the prospect of winning $500 for nothing, the victim scarcely requires the persuasion of A. to volunteer to distribute $5,000 among the poor of his native state. In order to establish 'confidence,' he is induced to go with A. to his bank and draw out $100 or $150 in notes.

"The comedy is then repeated, only this time it has its tragic side. B. disappears with the notes and, after a long interval, A. goes out to see what has become of him. Naturally the victim never sees him again, unless, after lodging a complaint, he is called to identify him at the police station, when, as has been said, he has to decide whether he will stay to prosecute or put up with his loss.

"Incredible as it may seem, the supply of dupes seems to be inexhaustible. The tricksters' season begins about April and continues until the last visitor has left England late in the autumn."

Explosive Force of Water.

Water, looked upon as the tamest of liquids, is as great an explosive as dynamite under certain conditions. In one day water breaks up more earth and rock than all the gunpowder, gun-cotton and dynamite in the world do in a year. These explosives can be controlled by human energy, but water does not hold itself accountable to man. It runs into the ground, freezes, expands and splits the soil into little pieces. Finding a crack in a huge rock, it repeats the same process, forcing it asunder. If frozen in the pores of a tree it often explodes with a report like a gunshot and the force of a dynamite bomb.

The Organ.

The invention of the organ is attributed to Ctesibius, a barber of Alexandria, about 250 B. C. and also to the great Archimedes, about 320 B. C. The organ was brought to Europe from Constantinople and was applied to religious devotions in the churches about A. D. 650. First used in the churches of Italy, they gradually spread to the other European countries. For religious purposes there seems to be no other instrument invented by man that can take the place of the organ.—New York Journal.

Umbrella Etiquette in Turkey.

In China ladies are attended by servants who hold umbrellas over their heads. The Chinese and Japanese introduce both the umbrella and parasol into their decorative work at athletic sports. In western Turkey it is necessary to close an umbrella meeting people of high rank and European traveler who was passing one of the palaces of the sultan nearly run through by the guard before he comprehended that he must put down the open umbrella he carried. Every one passing the actual residence of the sultan lowers his umbrella as a salutation to "the brother of the sun and the moon."

Highly Practical.

"Your business college for young ladies seems to be all right." "It is all right." "Do you give the girls a good practical business training?" "In reply to that question I can only say that 60 per cent of our graduates marry their employers the first year."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ELK BUILDING ON HOFFMAN CORNER

Early $30,000 Now Pledged for the Project—To be a Four-Story Building

EANS MUCH FOR BRAINERD

Amored that the Central Minnesota Railway Will Have Offices in the Building

It is reported that the Elks of Brainerd contemplate the erection of a four-story building on the Hoffman corner and that nearly $30,000 has been pledged for the project.

St. Cloud, Virginia, Bemidji and other Minnesota cities have secured homes for their Elk lodges and Brainerd does not propose to be left behind in the march of improvements. One of the first duties that Exalted Ruler-Elect Judge J. T. Sanborn will call upon to perform after his installation will be the appointment of a special building committee to confer with the promoters of this enterprise to endeavor to bring the project to a successful and speedy conclusion.

The building as now contemplated, is said, will be of fireproof construction, four stories in height and covering the entire ground room, 50 by 125 feet. There will be five rooms fronting Sixth street on the ground floor and there have been so many applications for them that the management will be able to select the lines of business they wish represented at this location. The second floor will be fitted up with offices and a prominent professional man has offered to lease the entire floor, but will probably sublet a portion of it.

It is contemplated that the third and fourth floors will be fitted up for the use of the Elks in the way of lodge rooms, banquet halls, club rooms and bachelor apartments for the use of resident and visiting Elks, and with an elevator in constant operation this will make very convenient quarters.

Such a building as is contemplated for a lodge home will mean much for Brainerd and put her in the front rank with other cities of Minnesota. It is rumored that the Central Minnesota Railway company, operating the street railway in Brainerd and the proposed interurban on the edge, will have its headquarters in the building, as it would be the most central location they could procure for waiting rooms and offices.

Barry, Chas. Bender, Patrick Bohon, John W. Bombs, Charles L. Boardman (provisional), Dennis E. Willie, J. A. Thompson, James McCavoy, William Kopf, Joe Graves, W. H. Schang, Mos A. Strunk, R. M. Oldring, John Clannis, John W. Lapp, T. F. Daley, W. Brown, Leslie Bush, Roy Bresser, J. Franklin Baker.

Spurned.

This is a true story. It happened in roadway's newest and most garish restaurant. Two prosperous men dropped in for lunch, ate well, drank moderately and smoked the best. The one pulled for the check, tendered a ten dollar bill in payment and, when the change came, left one bright, new, shining dime on the plate. The waiter approached smilingly, saw what was left, lost his smile, gingerly lifted the dime so as not to disturb the dime and, after carefully passing the plate about for ten waiters who were for the moment idle to see, deposited it on a serving table, the dime still untouched.—New York World.

The First "Coin Sweater."

"Coin sweating," which so often figures in the Old Bailey calendar, is a very, very old crime. More than six centuries before Christ there was a coin sweater, one Alexander of Byzantium. He was chief officer of the public treasury and he amassed an immense and sudden fortune by "clipping" the money in so skillful a manner that his frauds could only be discovered by weighing. The Byzantines gave him the nickname of "the File" from his making such dextrous use of that tool, whence probably comes the modern term of "file" applied in England to thieves, pickpockets and cunning, hard headed soundrels.—Pearson's Weekly.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME TONIGHT

Wadena and Aitkin Basketball Teams Play at Local High School Auditorium

GAME CALLED AT 8 O'CLOCK

Winners Will Represent Congressional District at Tournament at Northfield, Mar. 20-21

The Wadena and Aitkin high school basketball teams will battle for the championship of the sixth congressional district at the Brainerd high school auditorium this evening. The game will be called promptly at 8 o'clock.

The winners of this game will represent this district at the state high school basketball tournament to be held at Carlton College, Northfield, on March 20 and 21.

Much interest locally and in Wadena and Aitkin is being taken in the game. Delegations from the towns named arrived to see the game tonight. The Brainerd high school basketball team, flushed with victory over Sauk Center, returned home this afternoon and will attend the game in a body.

PINE RIVER SCHOOL DEDICATED

Governor A. O. Eberhart Delivers Dedication Address on Thursday

THE SCHOOL VALUED AT $25,000

Event Marked an Epoch in History of Pine River and Cass County

Yesterday afternoon and evening the very serviceable, commodious and well appointed new school building of Pine River was dedicated. In the afternoon a reception was held in the school building, in the receiving line being Governor Eberhart, C. J. Schulze, superintendent of public instruction, E. M. Phillips superintendent of consolidated school work, the local school superintendent, the teachers, and the local committee of ladies and gentlemen of Pine River. Among the outsiders present were noticed Representative McGarry, Attorney DeLary, Sheriff DeLary and County Attorney Rogers, from Walker, and from Brainerd County Attorney Swanson and W. H. Gemmell, general manager of the Minnesota & International railway.

At 7:30 in the evening at the town hall the formal exercises of dedication were held, when a very fine musical program was given, and speeches were made by C. J. Schulze, W. H. Gemmell, E. M. Phillips and the governor. After the exercises in the hall the party adjourned to the assembly room of the new school building where a very elaborate banquet was served.

Governor Eberhart received an enthusiastic welcome from the large audience which had assembled to hear him, when he was introduced by the superintendent of the school as "the Governor, he needs no other introduction."

Mr. Eberhart complimented the people of Pine River on their achievement in securing such a fine school building, one which would be a credit to a much larger community and predicted, with the growth that was rapidly taking place in northern Minnesota and in Pine River and vicinity, it would not be many years before they would need a still larger building.

He told them how deeply interested he was in the consolidated rural school movement, how he had gone to Ohio to study their methods of handling that problem there, how Minnesota had adopted the best plans that could be found and why the state should be gratified with the result of the splendid work being done by Mr. Schulze and Mr. Phillips in their respective departments. He pointed out the aim of the consolidated school movement to be the placing in the small centers of the country such school buildings and equipment and competent and experienced teachers as would afford the children who attended them equal opportunities with the children of the large cities.

He said that in this new school as good as advanced work would be done as in any of the larger towns and that the ultimate object to be attained was the retention of the children of the country and in avoiding the necessity of sending those who wanted to go through the higher grades to the cities or larger towns, where they would be away from their homes and subjected to the dangers and temptations that necessarily follow.

He told stories of his early but short school experience in Nebraska and of the time, later, when he taught school, all illustrative of the points he was making, which were that the undesirable congestion of the cities could only be avoided by the education of the country children near their homes.

He interested the children present by explaining to them what the Boy Scout movement was and told the story of the time recently when he was to address a large meeting of Boy Scouts at the St. Paul auditorium. The leader of the Boy Scouts a bright lad, a newsboy of eleven, was to introduce him. He had prepared a little introductory speech, but when he got up before the large audience of several thousand persons, he became stricken with stage fright and forgot what he was going to say. The Governor felt sorry for his embarrassment as did his comrades who were down in front looking up at him.

Finally the lad pulled himself together, and gritting his teeth, said: "Well, here's the Governor, he's the whole cheese anyway."

The governor closed by complimenting the ladies and gentlemen of the orchestra and the singers for the very excellent musical program they had prepared and said he would long remember the cordial and hospitable manner in which he had been received by the Pine River people.

Mr. Schulze and Mr. Phillips gave short and snappy accounts of the work they were doing in furthering the advancement of education in Minnesota and stated many interesting facts that the audience should know in connection with that important subject.

Mr. Gemmell's address follows: "Boys and girls of Pine River, ladies and gentlemen, and Mr. Toastmaster:

You see I reverse the usual way of opening one's remarks, which indicates what portion of this audience I consider the most important this evening.

A teacher who had recently been instructing her class in natural history, asked who could tell her where the home of the swallow was. A bright lad put up his hand, indicating that he knew, and she told him to answer, and he said, rubbing the location, "in the stomach."

Now that boy, while not giving her the reply she expected, showed he has been using his reasoning faculties and to develop them, of course, was the reason he was attending school.

I count it a great privilege to be present at the dedication exercises of your splendid school building, and as manager of the railroad which serves Pine River, one of our most progressive and thriving towns, indicate by my presence the deep interest we take in all those things which tend to the upbuilding of your city, the welfare of its citizens and, especially, as in this case, the education of its children.

The state can do no nobler work than that of providing commodious, well appointed and sanitary school buildings, and competent teachers for the children of today, who so soon become the citizens of tomorrow—and we should all be proud of the fact that our state of Minnesota stands among the foremost of the Sisterhood of states which are realizing that the future happiness and prosperity of the country depend entirely upon a well educated citizenship.

The very derivation and meaning of the word "education" is inspiring. A leading out of the children of men from the darkness of ignorance into the full daylight of the knowledge of all those good things that God has put into the minds of men to discover, record and disseminate. There is no nobler profession than that of teacher, and no greater privilege can be accorded anyone than that of training the minds of children and watching them expand and grow. Long may this school building endure—creditable may the future endeavors of the children who study here be and may your community prosper so that in the not very distant future you will need another, but a larger one.

Paradoxical as it may seem, in this hour of rejoicing over the completion of your new school house, as I now stand here in it—once more in a school room—my heart is filled with sadness because I realize my school days are gone forever, and I fear I did not always avail myself of the opportunities of acquiring knowledge as I should have done. Boys and girls who may be within the sound of my voice, let me assure you that the happiest hours of your lives will be the hours you spend in school, before the stern realities, perplexities and worries of the battle of life must be assumed. Use those hours diligently then, so that you may wage that battle bravely and successfully.

In conclusion, and addressing myself particularly to the children, I would remind those who are studying history of the story of the great sea battle which took place in the year 1805 near Cape Trafalgar, off the coast of Spain, when a British fleet defeated the combined fleets of France and Spain and forever shattered Napoleon's dream of being as powerful on sea as he was aiming to be on land—and which ultimately led to his final destruction. You will remember that the British admiral was named Nelson. He was a great admiral and had won many important victories before. The night before the battle he called the captains of his fleet to his ship and outlined his plans to them, gave them his instructions and told them what his signals would be—and then calmly awaited the morning. On the battle morning, when the signal for a general engagement was flying and the ships were drifting toward the enemy, he called the captain of his vessel, "The Victory," to him and asked him if all the proper signals had been displayed and Hardy, looking aloft, replied he thought they had. Nelson asked him if none were missing and he answered "no." Then Nelson ordered his signal man to hoist another, and presently from the mast-head was displayed this now world famous signal, "England expects every man to do his duty." That signal was taken up ship by ship and the British sailors went into the fight and did their duty and saved their country from a foreign invasion by winning the battle. Nelson, dying from a wound a few hours after the first gun was fired, said with his dying breath, "Thank God, I have done my duty."

Children, the keynote of life is "Duty"—and duty is manifold. We owe a duty to our Creator, to worship Him. We owe a duty to our parents, to love, honor and obey them. We owe a duty to our neighbors—to do unto them as we would wish them to do unto us. We owe a duty to our community—to respect and obey its laws, and be ready to die in its defense. We owe a duty to ourselves—to lead clean, pure and industrious lives.

In your schooldays is your opportunity to learn what your duties are. You are fortunate in being privileged to live in the greatest country in the world—where one has the broadest opportunities for happiness, advancement and prosperity. Remember that you are—as human ships drift upon the sea of life—and that ever flying at our mast heads invisible to the physical eye, but plainly visible to the mind's eye, is the signal, "The United States of America expects each one of you to do your duty." YOUNG MAN WAS A BRAKEMAN

Slipped on Bark and Injured Foot and Ankle—Two Divorce Suits are Filed

In district court Anna Framling, guardian ad litem for Charles Framling, has brought suit against the Minnesota & International railway and the Big Forks & International Falls railway company for $15,000 damages on account of injuries alleged to have been sustained by the young man, a minor employed as brakeman. He was drawing about $100 a month wages. On February 9, 1913, it is alleged that young Framling was ordered to walk on a flat car of a train and remove some stakes and that he slipped on bark and fell between the cars, the complaint stating that he permanently injured his left foot and ankle.

Under the terms of the workmen's compensation act William Hornbrook received from the Pittsburgh Steel Ore Co. for injuries consisting of a contused wound on the bridge of the nose with some depression and an abrasion at the inner angle of the left eyebrow, $104.16. He had been drawing $18 a week wages.

Sarah J. Thorpe has sued for a divorce from George H. Thorpe. The couple, says the complaint, were married on January 7, 1888 in Greenbush, Wis. Since January 24, 1913 the plaintiff, Sarah J. Thorpe has resided in Minnesota. She is 45 and he is 55 years old. On April 3, 1911, says the complaint, they were living in Pond, Wis., and the defendant deserted her. They have no children. The name of the plaintiff before marriage was Sarah J. Abbey.

Eva Brown has sued Otto P. Brown for divorce. She is 39 and he 42. They were married in Superior, Wis., on April 7, 1909. The plaintiff is a resident of Minnesota. She alleges that on August 10, 1910 he deserted her. There are no children. The plaintiff's name when she married defendant was Eva Barrone, by reason of a former marriage, and her maiden name was Eva Barnhardt. She also asks for alimony.

Duration of Human Life

According to the Boston Herald the average duration of human life is about 33 years. One-quarter of the people on the earth die before the age of 6, one-half before the age of 16 and only about one person out of each 100 born lives to 65.

The American experience of mortality shows the expectation of life as follows:

At 10 years—49 years longer.
At 20 years—42 years longer.
At 30 years—35 years longer.
At 40 years—28 years longer.
At 50 years—20 years longer.
At 60 years—14 years longer.
At 70 years—9 years longer.
At 80 years—4 years longer.
At 90 years—1½ years longer.

Some Good Instruction

Economy in coal consumption and the abatement of the smoke nuisance are the subjects of a course of instruction which the Northern Pacific railway will offer its employees under the direction of George T. Conley, fuel supervisor of the road. In a special car equipped as a lecture hall Mr. Conley will go over the entire system, lecturing to employees at all principal stations and demonstrating methods of economy and smoke abatement.

Wonderful Exposition Palaces Fast Rising On the Shores of San Francisco Bay

Splendid Representation For Minnesota Planned In Vast Gathering of States and Nations

JUST inside the Golden Gate a vast army of workmen is rushing to completion the huge exhibit palaces of America's Panama canal celebration, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco in 1915. Many of the most celebrated architects, sculptors and artists in the United States co-operated in the design of the marvelous exposition city upon the shores of San Francisco bay. As an inspiration they had before them the greatest engineering work in the history of the world—the Panama canal—and in the completion of the canal they saw the final result the main exhibit buildings will form parts of a huge group surrounding the three principal courts. They will represent in conception a stupendous oriental bazaar, similar in form to the bazars of the east, at Constantinople, Damascus or Cairo. The roofs of the buildings will be colored a reddish pink, like Spanish tile, and will spread over the mile long group of the main exhibit buildings extending along the blue waters of the bay. Wonderful groups of statuary will tell the story of the Panama canal.

The site of the Exposition covers 635 acres on San Francisco harbor. A will be under way by the time this article is published.

One of the unique phases of the Exposition will be the tremendous participation of the South American nations. Many of the republics will make displays never before seen outside their own boundaries.

The commonwealths of the United States will be represented upon a splendid scale. Thirty-five states have selected the sites of their state pavilions, and the appropriations made by state legislatures aggregate millions. The largest appropriation is that of New York state—$700,000.

DAYLIGHT PERSPECTIVE OF PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

As the Exposition assumes form the wonders that the architects dreamed of become vivid and tangible. A city of palaces facing north upon San Francisco harbor is rising against the walls of the hills that embrace the Exposition site upon the south, east and west. When completed, months before the opening of the Exposition, it will be found that the majority of the Exposition palaces are united into one enormous structure, with its outside walls as high as the average six-story city block and with its golden towers and minarets rising to heights of 170, 250, 350 and 430 feet. Eight of more impressive location for a great maritime celebration could not have been chosen. The Exposition city will face north upon the stream of traffic that passes through the western portal of America. On the south, east and west rise the hills of San Francisco, like the walls of a vast amphitheater. On a tree lined esplanade along the harbor's edge visitors will view great maritime pageants by day. By night a series of marvelous illuminations proceeding from great batteries of colored searchlights will turn the Exposition city into a fairyland.

Eleven huge exhibit palaces are under construction at this writing, and all of the fourteen main exhibit buildings

The great state of Minnesota is preparing for an exhibit which will show to the world its prosperity and resources. Reports of the wide enthusiasm with which the efforts of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial Clubs to raise funds sufficient for an adequate representation at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915 are being received have reached San Francisco. President Neill of the federation will visit Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, and will place himself in communication with all smaller towns and cities in a thorough canvass of all the industries of the state. Both he and Governor Eberhart are gratified at the response of the business men and agriculturists, which shows that the citizens of Minnesota appreciate the exceptional opportunity for the commercial education of the world afforded by the Exposition. There seems now little doubt that Minnesota will be enabled through her exhibit to reap her share of the benefits to accrue to the nation by reason of the completion of the canal and its celebration at San Francisco. The exhibit will show the state's educational, political and social advantages. The school system, climatic advantages, the natural scenic beauty, the parks and the great state university will have as great representation as the manufacturing industries, the shipping facilities, the municipal improvements and the agricultural and mineral resources of the section. Endowed by nature to produce in almost unbelievable quantities the two commodities most important to this civilization—iron and wheat—Minnesota will by her exhibit at the 1915 Exposition invite the investors of the world to aid in her development.

A unique feature of the Exposition—and it is difficult to select from among the thousands of brilliant features one as being more interesting than another—will be a continuous live stock show, the greatest of the world has known. Fifty acres will be used for live stock pavilions and show grounds. The Exposition management has set aside $175,000 for premiums for live stock, while $225,000 is offered for harness races. Breeding associations of the United States have so far offered $445,000 in premiums. This is a total of $845,000.

The "Midway" at the Exposition (the name has not yet been chosen) will be spectacular. At a cost of $350,000 the Santa Fe railway will present a series of panoramas showing the Grand canyon of Arizona, famous artists being engaged upon the panoramas. In a working model of the Panama canal visitors will proceed through the locks, as if actually going through the canal itself, and lecturers will explain its operation. This concession, to cost $250,000, will have a capacity of handling 2,000 people through its locks every thirty minutes. Another concession will show the historic old market place of Nuremberg, Germany, and wonderful concessions from China and Japan will be shown. Altogether the cost of installing the concessions is estimated at $11,200,000.

Architects' Dreams For Most Marvelous of Universal Expositions Coming True—Whole World Interested

As the United States has invited the world to an international festivity, an international program will be part of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Sporting events of all kinds will be prominent. The crack cavalry and infantry of the United States and Europe will participate in wall scaling contests, remount demonstrations and competitive drills of all kinds. Carrying out this theme upon a larger scale, battleships in the harbor and aeroplanes launched from hangars on the Exposition grounds will contend in mimic warfare. There are assured at the Exposition some wonderfully interesting aeroplane demonstrations. The principal aeroplane manufacturers of England, Germany, Russia, Italy and Switzerland will compete with and Education. Flanking this rectangular group on the east, but brought into general architectural harmony with it is Machinery Hall. Flanking it upon the west will be the superb Palace of Fine Arts, a building partly circular in form and embracing a great lagoon, in which its classic outlines will be reflected. The huge Palace of Horticulture, Festival Hall, the Service building and other minor structures are set in the south garden. The Palace of Horticulture will be one of the most wonderful buildings ever erected. It will cover five acres and be constructed almost entirely of glass. Its huge glass dome will rise 165 feet. The department of horticulture at the Exposition has offered a prize of $1,000 to the originator of the finest variety of rose. The merits of this rose night it will reflect the colors of the rainbow from hundreds of great batteries of searchlights. On the east side of the court will be the great triumphal Arch of the Rising Sun, and upon the west side will be seen the Arch of the Setting Sun. The arches will suggest the note of the Exposition—the meeting of the east and west at Panama. Their sculptural decorations will carry out this theme. Surmounting the Arch of the Rising Sun will be a colossal group of statuary, a great elephant as the central motif, with camel riders, Tibetan priests, Arab warriors, negro slaves, etc., the whole suggesting the spirit of the orient. The group will be forty-two feet in height. The howdah upon the elephant will be 188 feet above the floors of the Court of the Sun and Stars. The triumphal Arch those of the United States. Prizes will be offered for devices or improvements which tend to make the aeroplane safer and to bring it more and more into practical everyday use.

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be the first great American exposition of which it will be possible to get a view from an aeroplane. The more venturesome visitors flying over the Exposition in dirigible balloons or in aeroplanes will see stretch out below them the great exhibit palaces, brilliant with the color scheme will be judged by an international jury. A scientist has written that he feels he is well on the way to produce a black rose.

The finest architectural and sculptural effects will be seen in the great courts, which will divide the Exposition city north and south. In the center of the group will be the Grand Court of Honor, the splendid Court of the Sun and Stars. Here the visitor will behold one of the most magnificent court effects ever presented at an exposition. In dimensions the court will be 750 feet east and west and 900 feet north and south, exclusive of a fore court or opening on San Francisco harbor. The entrance to the court from the main gates will be through the arcade of the Tower of Jewels, a magnificent structure 430 feet in height. By day the tower will stand out as the great dominating architectural feature of the Exposition. By

of the Setting Sun will be crowned with a group expressing western civilization, its main theme a prairie schooner, with Indians and Spanish, French, German and English explorers supporting the central figure.

Passing beneath either of the two great arches one will come respectively into the great west court, the Court of the Four Seasons, designed by Henry Bacon, designer of the wonderful Lincoln memorial to be built at Washington in honor of Abraham Lincoln, or to the great east court, the Court of Festivals, designed by Louis C. Mullgardt, architect of the Fisheries building at Chicago. In these courts will be seen monumental expressions of architecture and sculpture. The sculpture upon an exalted scale will tell the story of the Panama canal and of the high ideals with which America has pursued this greatest of the works of history.

designed by Jules Guerin, the famous artist, who thus describes the effect of the work he is directing: "Imagine a gigantic Persian rug spread down upon the shores of San Francisco bay, with brilliant colors here and there, but melting in soft, glorious tones, and you will have an idea of what the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will look like if viewed from a distance, as from the Sausalito heights across the Golden Gate."

The Exposition buildings will be divided into three huge groups, and when completed the Exposition city will present a marvelous picture. Eight of the palaces in the central group will form parts of a great rectangle. Four of the buildings will face the bay and four face south upon a wonderful south garden. The four buildings facing upon the bay are the Palaces of Mines, Transportation, Agriculture and Food Products. The four facing south are the Palaces of Varied Industries, Manufactures, Liberal Arts Lasting.

"Your suggestion," said a deposit to the bank receiver, "offers very comfort. It is a bachelor's comfort. That is to say, no comfort at all."

"What," said a bachelor to a benedict, "only married a year and already so blue?"
"Ah, but," groaned the benedict, "never imagined that a wife would prove so expensive."

"The bachelor patted the blue married man on the back in a consolatory way."
"Yes," he said, "a wife is an expensive article; that is true. But then you must remember that she lasts a very long time."

Well Connected.

HEROIC FIREMEN SAVING LIFE

In a big fire deserve the commendation of everybody, just as the man does that has his home insured in time, and when it is destroyed by fire has the "long green" wherewith to build a new one. No one knows how welcome a few thousand dollars when left homeless but the man who has "been there." Let us insure you and be ready for emergencies.

Plain Truth that's Worth Money

Using Foley's Honey and Tar for a cough or cold may save you both sickness and money. F. F. Monahan, Wis., says: "I am exposed to all kinds of weather and I find Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always fixes me up in good shape when I catch cold or have a bad cough. I recommend it gladly." Correcting the Judge.

"Do I understand you to say," asked the judge, "that his remarks were acrimonious?"
"No, judge, your honor; I didn't say that. I said he just swore at me. I ain't agoin' to claim that he done what he didn't do."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

There are people who do not know how to waste their time alone, and hence become the scourge of busy people.—De Bonald.

Mats and Politeness.

"French and German hats," said a hatter, "only last half as long as ours. It isn't the poor quality of the hats, but the fine quality of the manners that causes this. Lifting the hat in salutation is the hardest work that falls to the headpiece and the French and Germans lift it to men and women equally, thus giving it twice as much labor as we do. Naturally, then, it wears out twice as quickly. It goes in the bin in no time over the water."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Bitter Tongue.

It was at a concert. The eminent pianist was embarked upon an ambitious classical program. The single individual present who had paid for his ticket turned to his right hand neighbor, obviously by his bored and superior air a person whose business it was to attend concerts—a musical critic.
"Beg pardon," said the individual, "but isn't that something of Chopin's—that last number?"
"It is," replied the critic morosely—"when somebody else plays it."—New York Post.

Patrick Henry's Great Speech.

Patrick Henry's immortal speech, in which he used the words "Give me liberty or give me death," was delivered in old St. John's church at Richmond before the assembly of the second Virginia convention of delegates in March, 1775. The famous speech was not written, and as shorthand reporters were somewhat scarce in those days we have only snatches of the great oration which immortalized Henry and set the colonies on fire.—New York American.
